Photograph the Italian Liberty architecture

Turin - At its second edition, the photographic contest Italian Liberty dedicated to the Italian Architecture Style of the Belle Epoque, will take place from March 3 to October 31, 2014. The project is born thanks to Italia Liberty, which registers the architectural heritage of the 17th and 18th centuries in Italy, during the Liberty and Art Déco Style.

The contest is open to anyone, professional or amateur photographers, from children to adults, and is guided by the Artistic Director Andrea Spezi, organized by Aitm Art of Turin. The photographic contest has no intent to profit and is created in order to give value to all the immense architectural beauty of the period between '800 and '900. Each participant can submit 30 photographs on the theme "Liberty - Art Nouveau - Jugendstil - Modern Style". Among the prizes there are vacations on luxury hotels, precious art books, subscription to magazine in the photographic art field, entrance to art exhibitions. The 12 winning photos will be published on the website and will illustrate the no profit calendar 2015. Furthermore, the photos will be part of an editorial project on Liberty in Italy, divided for each region.
